

Are you a person of action and experienced with production and international supply management?

Smixin is a cleantech company established in canton Bern, Switzerland, which has developed a unique technology enabling significant water savings in daily routine application such as hand washing. Smixin is a spin-off of the well-known Swiss innovation house Creaholic.

With its first product line developed and industrialized, Smixin enters its growth phase. For the next steps, including the ramp up of sales activities and the opening of new countries, we are looking for a man of action with good knowledge in regulatory affairs in a worldwide range (m / f) to fill the position of

Regulatory Compliance Manager

Your Tasks

- You take over the responsibility of Smixin products compliance to regulations
- You evaluate what regulation applies to Smixin products for each country
- You manage the certification schedule and communicate it with the team
- You manage the certification process for Smixin products
- You perform a regulatory monitoring of Smixin products
- You keep up to date the technical files of Smixin products
- You propose to Sales team voluntary certification

Your Profile

- Higher education (two or three year university degree) in regulatory affairs, quality or equivalent field.
- Several years of experience in an industrial environment as regulatory affairs operator.
- Good knowledge in regulatory affairs.
- Strong knowledge of notified bodies and certification processes.
- Knowledge in EMEA or USA regulations is a plus.
- Problem solver, solution-oriented, self-confident and stress resistant.
- Fluent in English as well as German and/or French.

Our Offer

- Exciting and challenging position in customer service
- Development perspective in a growing structure
- Flat hierarchy and short decision paths
- Direct impact and influence on the young company evolution
- Disruptive cleantech product with high growth potential
- International set-up and work environment
- Small and entrepreneurial team
- Informal office space in an old factory building

Please send your job application per email to Sabine Zuch, HR Manager, sabine.zuch@smixin.com